SPALDING-TEAPE VISITING FELLOWSHIP IN HINDU-CHRISTIAN STUDIES

The Governing Body of Clare Hall proposes to elect a stipendiary Visiting Fellow in Hindu-Christian studies for a period of one year from 1st October 2022 or an agreed date thereafter. There are no restrictions on age, sex or previous standing for this Fellowship. At the close of their tenure, Fellows normally become Life Members of the College.

The Spalding Trust aims to promote a better understanding between the great cultures of the world by encouraging the study of the religious principles on which they are based, and on this occasion it is collaborating as a co-funder with the Teape Trust, which exists to further the study of the relationship between Hinduism and Christianity.

The College and the Trusts may give preference to candidates who are at a fairly early stage of their careers. However, in certain circumstances the College and the Trusts may be willing to appoint a more senior scholar who already holds an academic post and is thus in receipt of regular support. The Fellow will normally be provided with a stipend of £29,000 and an allowance for meals in college. It is expected that the Fellow will live in College, and that accommodation will be provided at normal rental cost.

The College and the Trusts require that the Fellow appointed pursues research into the interrelation between Hinduism and Christianity. Projects may adopt any recognised scholarly method and focus on any period. The College and the Trusts also expect the Fellow during the period of tenure to share insights both with the academic community and with more general audiences, whether in Cambridge or further afield. The manner of such a contribution, whether by public lecture, seminar or supervision of students, will be subject to discussion with the College and the Trusts, who expect that the Fellow will use the opportunities provided by the Fellowship to full advantage, to support the work of the University and the College, to further the aims of the Trusts and to pursue research within the field of religious studies. On completion of the Fellowship the Fellow will be asked to submit a short report on work accomplished.
